

SAI Vision Bulletin

Dear SAI member,

In the lead up to our tenth anniversary in 2015 we have much to celebrate and exciting developments to look forward to. In my role as Chair for almost a decade now I have watched the association grow and refine. In this short bulletin I want to highlight some information that is expanded more fully in our newsletter that will be forwarded to you by email in the coming days and to encourage you to return the enclosed membership renewal.

- *I especially want to highlight our upcoming conference on Sunday November 16th 9.30—4.30pm (€60members)at Emmaus Conference Centre. The theme Contemplative Supervision builds on our skills practice using this approach at our Spring conference in April. Tobin Hart PhD our keynote speaker will address a *Contemplative approach to supervision that involves an education and psychology of consciousness that integrates the wisdom of mind and heart. Tobin Hart who is professor of psychology at the University of West Georgia, and author of 'From Information to Transformation', 'The Integrative Mind' and 'The Four Virtues' will explore human consciousness, centering on how we know, especially knowing characterised as contemplative, intuitive, empathetic and inspired.
- The SAI Vision Newsletter will be sent to you by email. In an effort to become more ecologically and technologically friendly our newsletter will not be forwarded to you except by email unless you request otherwise. Included in the current issue of the newsletter is a very interesting article on Contemplative Supervision by Jack Finnegan PhD which he has kindly made available for the SAI Vision Newsletter. We are also currently working on the SAI Vision E-Journal which we hope to launch before Christmas.
- Please note our change of address. Our company office, postal address and research centre for cross professional supervision is now :

Finally, I look forward to meeting you again on Sunday Nov. 16th for another inspiring SAI Conference. On behalf of the SAI board I want to thank you for your membership, support and promotion of SAI as an important contributor to the growing profession of supervision across professions as we continue to learn from, with and about each other as professionals.

Yours Sincerely
